India Is Tired
No Tariff Yet
Who Elected Hoover?
60 Million, Plus Work

By Arthur Brisbane
BOMBAY PREDICTS an early end to the fight between Gandhi, sincere, courageous, shrilled up little Hindu, locked in a British prison, and the power of the British empire.

Compromises and concessions, that the wise British understand thoroughly, are expected to end India's latest struggle for home rule and absolute self government.

Thus far in history no country has won freedom unless it was willing to fight for it. Individually the Hindus are brave. Collectively they are not combative.

Early yesterday you read that the tariff was practically settled. Everybody happy, except, perhaps, 100,000,000 Americans who buy the goods.

Later you learned that nothing was settled, the tariff had gone back to conference. Sen. for Smoot, who thinks the tariff is all right, says it does more for the farmers than for industry, four times as much, in fact, and the government will get $110,000,000 more revenue through the tariff.

That will be cold comfort for business men and workers if the country should lose five hundred or a thousand millions in exports.

Mr. Deas Pickett, of the Methodist board of temperance, says: "The inefficiency of the Republican workers in the Hoover campaign was startling. The fight was won, not by the Republican party, but by the churches, the W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League and other temperance organizations."

The administration appears to agree with Mr. Pickett, but Mr. Pickett is partly mistaken. Mr. Hoover got the temperance vote. He also got another gigantic vote, that had nothing to do with prohibition, and that piled up for him a vote greater by five millions than any ever cast before in the United States.

Not including real estate, the late Rodman Wamsaker left $800,000, according to his executors.

More interesting than the size of his fortune is the fact that he worked hard, almost to the day of his death, at his own business, and at promotion of aviation in which he was a pioneer, and a man worth important to the public.

It is what a man DOES, not what he HAS, that counts.

Rodman Wamsaker, like his father, knew the importance of setting an example.

This writer has seen John Wamsaker, past 70 years of age, in the heat of the summer, working in his New York store basement, he said:

"The only way I can get Mr. Ogden, my manager, to take a vacation is by putting him out and taking his desk."

Encouraging news from London says "business circles" are fighting long skirts. The short skirt represents common sense, comfort, health, and does not drag in germs.

Rich women should set an example by refusing to wear dragging, dust-collecting skirts, and to be dominated by the whims of dressmakers.

About the navy pact, called unfair to the United States by overwhelming opinion of the men highest in our navy, senators feel that it is "better to accept a treaty about which they are not enthusiastic than give up the idea of limiting naval expenses."

The idea need not be given up. Let the United States retain its freedom, do as it pleases, build what it pleases, and European nations whose pocketbooks ARE LIMITED will cut down of their own accord.

PHELAN'S WILL PROVIDES FOR HOSPITAL

Cambridge to Get Institution From Fortune When Present Beneficiaries Pass On
The will of George E. Phelan, manager of the White Fund for Boston, was filed today in Suffolk probate court. The will, which contains a glowing tribute to Phelan's mother, splits the estate into trust funds for his two sisters and George L. Driscoll, his secretary.

After numerous special bequests to persons including Driscoll, Mayor Cusley and others in public and private life, the residue to be placed in trusts for the three was estimated at $200,000.

The tribute to his mother was made in providing for the disposition of the fund after the death of the beneficiaries.
LAUDS HIS MOTHER
The tribute to the mother reads: "Upon the death of my said two sisters and secretary, the net income of the funds shall be allowed to accumulate until, when added to the principal, it shall amount to a sum sufficient in the opinion of my executor and trustee under this will and of the then mayor of Cambridge, to construct and adequately equip a home for destitute children or a hospital for the care of the sick among the worst poor of the city, to be established within the confines of the present city of Cambridge; the current expense of its care and maintenance to be borne by said city."

"I make this bequest in tribute to the memory of my devoted mother, who when living was my dearest possession and who has ever been in life and death my highest inspiration and in memory of the many years associated with my earliest recollections."

Under terms of the bill the subway, instead of coming up, as now, that the trolley cars for Commonwealth and, for Beacon at, pass through the street, will be continued under those thoroughfares.

The new entrance and exit of the subway at South Station will be in front of Temple Israel.

Senate Has Absolute Right to All Naval Treaty Documents

The Senate is the TREATY-MAKING POWER of the United States.

The President merely has the power to NEGOTIATE a treaty. He has absolutely no power to CONCLUDE a treaty.

The United States Senate ALONE has the constitutional right to ACCEPT or REJECT any treaty—in brief TO MAKE THE TREATY.

It can only do this properly and patriotically with full knowledge of all the facts and of all the preliminary correspondence and all the detail of the negotiations which have preceded the submission of the treaty to the Senate for its decision.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the United States Senate should DEMAND an opportunity to examine all the diplomatic correspondence leading up to, and during the London naval conference.

Its patriotic duty and constitutional right are to act upon that treaty impartially and absolutely INDEPENDENTLY, and in the light of all the facts which bear upon that treaty.

If the administration were loyal to the public, and submissive to the Constitution which is the supreme law of the land, it would have transmitted all the pertinent diplomatic correspondence to the Senate at the same time that it submitted the treaty.

Not to do so is to attempt to substitute executive tyranny for constitutional right.

The fact that the administration may be afraid to have the light of truth turned upon the treaty by the Senate had no legal bearing upon the situation.

The effort to stampede the Senate into ratifying the treaty before the end of the regular session, the threat of an extra session to be called immediately after the adjournment of the regular session, are not indications of power on the part of the President but of weakness—weakness of legal right to affect the constitutional acts of the Senate, and weakness of personal character.

Weak men in high position are usually tyrannical, and characteristically try to substitute their will for the law of the land.

Bobby Jones Beats Talley at 19th Hole
St. Andrews, Scotland, May 28 (AP)—Bobby Jones defeated Cyril Tolley here today, 2 up in a match that went to the 19th hole.

Owing to this unconstitutional and tyrannical attitude on the part of the President, the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations has been compelled to conduct its hearing upon the treaty, and to examine the witnesses called, without the assistance which would have been afforded by the careful examination of the diplomatic correspondence connected with the treaty.

The orderly procedure would have been, for an examination of this correspondence to have PRECEDED the examination of the witnesses.

Instead of that the committee has been forced to base its demands for the correspondence upon the testimony of the witnesses called.

The burden of this testimony is to the effect that the London naval treaty is unjust to the United States in that:

- 1—It surrenders the established naval policy of the United States;
- 2—Fails to give to the American navy parity with the British navy;
- 3—Abandons the 5-3 ratio with Japan;
- 4—Sacrifices the Congressional building program approved by President Coolidge upon the recommendation of our highest naval authorities;
- 5—Substitutes a cruiser program for the American navy dictated by the British government as the price of its consent to any limitation upon auxiliary ships.

In short, the established naval policy of the United States which President Coolidge, like the unconditional American he is, refused to surrender at Geneva is surrendered without a struggle in the London naval treaty which his successor in the White House negotiated, and is now trying unconstitutionally to rush to ratification.

Not only is the committee on foreign relations warranted in calling for all the diplomatic correspondence that will throw any light upon this indefensible surrender, but the "great committee of the Senate" would have been sadly indifferent of its rights and gravely derelict of its duty, had it failed to call for all the papers in the case as a condition precedent to reporting the treaty to the Senate.

SEARCH FOR MISSING WITNESS FUTILE

Jurors Dismissed After Waiting in Vain to Hear the Story of Fictitious Man

Secret indictments were reported this afternoon by the Suffolk grand jury which, in special session, considered graft and extortion charges in the Garrett case.

The number of indictments, and their nature, was not made known.

Although the jury continued its deliberations for more than an hour after reporting the first indictments it made no further presentments to the court and was dismissed.

All of the five named during the attorney-general's recent investigation as recipients of graft payments were reported to be in the city as the secret indictments were returned in Superior court. These were Oliver B. Garrett himself, Mrs. Florence H. Garrett, the former liquor raider's wife; Mrs. Lillian V. Hatch, his landlady; Sgt. Arthur Timmons, and Special Officer Arthur Tierman.

SEARCH FOR SEIBERT

When the jury was dismissed, Dist. Atty. William J. Foley ordered that a further search be made for Chester D. Seibert, of Hyde Park, who was sought in vain last night and today by inspectors attached to the district attorney's office.

Seibert is the former Back Bay railroad ticket agent who previously testified he changed large bills for Special Officer Tierman.

U. S. Mothers Kneel on Soil Sanctified by Valor

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

Washington, May 28.—President Hoover signed six bills for prison reforms and housing, which he characterized as the most comprehensive in history. The President immediately put in operation the machinery of government to make the laws effective and end present conditions of overcrowding, which have been stayed as a national disgrace.

SWEEPING REFORM

The bills signed: First—Authorize construction of two new federal prisons; one west of the Mississippi and one in the northeastern section of the United States (southern New York, or northern Pennsylvania), for which $7,000,000 is appropriated.

Second—Provide for better training and schooling in federal prisons.

Third—Authorize better hospitalization for federal prisoners.

Fourth—Create a federal parole board of three members.

Fifth—Provide for the extension of the parole system.

Sixth—Authorize the United States public health service to assume care of the health of inmates.

NEW BOARD ACTIVE

A seventh bill, providing that Federal prohibition officers be attached to the various district courts was sent back to Congress because of several errors in enacting.

The President announced that he would sign it as soon as it is returned in proper form.

Only recently the President signed an additional bill for the creation of a commissioner of Federal prisons and a special administrative board in the Department of Justice. All of the measures signed will be administered by this board.

SPECIAL CARE PLANNED

It was emphasized that under the new system the President believes the most humane treatment conceivable will be given Federal prisoners. Not only are they to be properly housed, but they are to be given medical attention by Government physicians.

Everywhere Federal system overcrowding is to be avoided, it is said. Prisoners are to be provided, when it can be done, paroled and returned to society as soon as possible.

While working in the prisons are to be paid wages, which will be kept for them until released, or transferred to their families.

President Hoover, it was learned, expects to call an early session to more thoroughly outline the details. He is doing this at the suggestion of George W. Wickersham, former attorney-general and in charge of his special law enforcement commission.

ENEMY SEIZES CONNECTICUT!

Fort Wright, Fisher's Island, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—The Black Fleet has shelled New London, Conn., and the submarine base there, together with the whole Connecticut shoreline, was theoretically in the hands of the enemy at the minute warfare that raged in Long Island Sound for the past three days came to an end shortly before noon today.

Protected by 11 of their own planes but opposed by every defense gun that could theoretically be brought to bear and showered by 40 "blue" bombers, the invading squadron hypothetically forged its way toward the goal which laid the munitions factories of Connecticut at its mercy.

In point of fact, however, the ships of the enemy ploughed their way placidly through the peaceful waters of the sound where scores of commercial vessels piled their protests way unheeded of the hail of deadly missiles which in actuality would have sunk everything in sight within a very few minutes.

New Necessaries

Board is Created
Revival of the powers and duties of the defunct commission on the necessities of life in a new board under a director in the state department of labor and industries was assured today with passage of a bill in the Senate. The House has already accepted the measure. Action followed a special message by Governor Allen after the commission had been allowed to go out of existence.

Paris, May 28 (AP)—Gold Star mothers of one group who are visiting France today began their solemn pilgrimage to the graves of their war dead, while another group had its last look at Paris. One group visited towns along the battlefield to see four of the American military cemeteries. The other, the first to come here, will sail from Cherbourg tomorrow on the steamer President Harding.

Two mothers, who have been gravely ill, were said today to be much improved. Mrs. Mary Berolucci of Danvers, N. Y., was one of the group. She is suffering from pneumonia, was described as still in a "serious condition."

Indicative of the sorrowful memories of war mothers the world over, Mrs. Horn of Cincinnati knelt at the grave of her son in Suresnes Cemetery. He fell 12 years ago.

CLOSING DAY OF CONGRESS IS GALA AFFAIR

Eucharistic Pilgrims Attend Mass in Amphitheater on Closing Day

By IRENE A. O'DONELL
Boston Evening American Correspondent With Eucharistic Congress Pilgrims

Carthage, North Africa, May 10 (By Mail)—On Saturday, the 10th, Pontifical mass was said in the amphitheater at Carthage.

At three the English speaking pilgrims met in the St. Louis room of the Carthage Museum and spent one of the most enjoyable afternoons of the whole week.

Cardinal McCrory of Ireland led off conditions in the Emerald Isle, and the work being done by the religious White Sisters told of the welfare work being done in Tunisia by their order and the lay nurses, among the white women and children.

This talk was particularly interesting at this time, as the pilgrims were to stop over in Rome for the convention May 20th of the National Council of Catholic Women.

Enough on the whole, which went very well with us in Tunisia was not without our unpleasant and sometimes ludicrous experiences.

TICKETS ALL GONE
The day before the Congress closed I was bound on a trip from Carthage to La Goulette. I approached the ragged and dirty ticket seller who stood at the station gate, wringing his brown loins in the still brown sand. I asked for a ticket to Tunis, some 10 miles beyond, and charged me full fare for the entire distance.

"But," I remonstrated, "I only want to go to La Goulette."

"Our La Goulette tickets have all been sold," he said, "so you will have to pay to Tunis or stay at home."

The unfairness of having to buy a ticket to a place where I had no desire to go, and pay for the privilege, upset me terribly and I was about to leave the entire Tunisian government in good American style, when an attractive young woman behind me tore two tickets from her book and handed them to the guard, who said to me, "Get along."

GUARD IMPOLITE

Returning that same day from La Goulette, I observed that the door of the train remained open after the train left the station. I spoke to the guard about it and he replied:

"Close it yourself, madam. You expect so much."

Sunday, the closing day of the Congress, was a gala day for the Americans. It must be admitted that the week's proceedings were pretty foreign for us. The French and other nationalities had pretty well outlasted us from the beginning. In fact we were conspicuous by our absence, insofar as any personal participation was concerned.

In the morning some of our priests were insistent on saying mass in the amphitheater, which is a very great honor. It being the place where the martyrdom of St. Agatha, and St. Agatha, occurred. Father James A. Brewin of St. Mary's Church, Brooklyn, Park, Joseph Smith of the West End, Father W. A. O'Connor of Medford, were the priests chosen for these masses. Father Daniel Linehan of Malden acted as assistant to Father Brewin. We Bostonians, as the boys do so, packed into the little cavern, heard mass and received communion.

In the afternoon there was the solemn benediction and procession in honor of the Blessed Sacrament.

Chicago Cubs' pitcher dead
Chicago, May 28 (AP)—Carl Carlson, one of only two Chicago Cubs pitchers with a winning percentage for this season, died suddenly in his hotel room early today. He was 36 years old and married.

Dr. John F. Davis, physician for the baseball club, was called at 3 o'clock this morning when Carlson complained of severe stomach pains. Death occurred 35 minutes later as plans were being made to rush him to a hospital.

A widow and a three-year-old child survive.

Cliff Heubert, Kiki Cuyler and Rigger Stephenson, Cub outfielders, were present when Carlson died.

Carlson has not been in robust health for many months, although at the spring training camp on Catalina Island he was reported as being in better form than for years.

He was a player who was conscientious in keeping himself in the best possible physical condition.

Carlson's pitching record, according to latest official records, includes games of last Wednesday, shows four games won and one lost.

Chicago Cubs paid $30,000 and gave two players, Kaufmann and Killebrew, to the Philadelphia Nationals for Carlson two years ago.

Carlson was best known as a "heavy" baseball pitcher. He did not possess great speed, but used a curve ball and change of pace with success.

He got a great power of real estate. He is what you call a "real estate" man. He is in the real estate business of the United States.

Cliff Heubert, Kiki Cuyler and Rigger Stephenson, Cub outfielders, were present when Carlson died.

Carlson has not been in robust health for many months, although at the spring training camp on Catalina Island he was reported as being in better form than for years.

He was a player who was conscientious in keeping himself in the best possible physical condition.

Carlson's pitching record, according to latest official records, includes games of last Wednesday, shows four games won and one lost.

Chicago Cubs paid $30,000 and gave two players, Kaufmann and Killebrew, to the Philadelphia Nationals for Carlson two years ago.

Carlson was best known as a "heavy" baseball pitcher. He did not possess great speed, but used a curve ball and change of pace with success.

He got a great power of real estate. He is what you call a "real estate" man. He is in the real estate business of the United States.

Turner Sets New Mark

Los Angeles, May 28 (US)—Landing at Grand Central Airport here last night at 7:58:28 o'clock, Lincolnton, Cal. Roscoe Turner broke the existing East-to-West airplane record by 36 minutes.

The noted aviator left New York at 5:03 a. m. and, flying high in favorable westerly wind, landed for his first and only stop at Wichita, Kans., at 12:45 p. m.; after refueling, he took the air at 1:18 p. m. and did not come to earth again until the landing at Grand Central Airport.

Turner's elapsed flying time was 15 hours, 43 minutes and 34 seconds. The previous mark, set by Capt. Frank Hawke, was 18 hours, 10 minutes and 32 seconds.

CHICAGO CUBS' PITCHER DEAD

Chicago, May 28 (AP)—Carl Carlson, one of only two Chicago Cubs pitchers with a winning percentage for this season, died suddenly in his hotel room early today. He was 36 years old and married.

Dr. John F. Davis, physician for the baseball club, was called at 3 o'clock this morning when Carlson complained of severe stomach pains. Death occurred 35 minutes later as plans were being made to rush him to a hospital.

A widow and a three-year-old child survive.

Cliff Heubert, Kiki Cuyler and Rigger Stephenson, Cub outfielders, were present when Carlson died.

INDICT 2 MORE IN SEATTLE RUM PLOT

Seattle, Wash., May 28 (28S)—

Excitement was at a high pitch here today following suspicion of three prominent northwest prohibition officials, all of whom were indicted by a federal jury on liquor conspiracy charges.

Those suspected from duty were: Roy Lyle, prohibition administrator for Washington, Oregon and Alaska; William M. Whitney, his assistant and legal adviser; Earl Corwin, chief field agent.

Maurice Smith, one of Lyle's assistants, has been named United administrator.

Meanwhile, a nation-wide search was started for Clifford T. McKenney, former assistant United States district attorney, who was indicted on a charge of conspiracy to receive and accept bribes, and violate prohibition, tariff and revenue laws.

Two additional indictments have been made public by Federal Judge Jeremiah Netherer, naming day of officials, and it was reported, McKinney as well.

The new indictments accuse Lyle, Corwin, Whitney, Richard L. Bryant and McKenney, first, with conspiracy to accept and give bribes, and, secondly, with conspiracy to violate prohibition, tariff and revenue laws, by reason of failure to pay duty on smuggled goods.

ANTICIPATES CONTEST

Phelan apparently expected a contest to follow the filing of the will for it provided for the executor by inserting the clause:

"The property I am now disposing of is only what I have been able to accumulate from my own labors."

"I am disposing of it in accordance with my best judgment but only after much careful thought on my part and with competent advice."

"I direct my executors and trustees to carry out the provisions of this will absolutely without compromise or settlement of any kind, even though my entire estate is used in defense thereof."

FLEE FROM FIRE OVER ROOFS

Sixteen families in the five-story apartment block at 108 Myrtle st., West End, fled to safety over the roofs of adjoining buildings when fire broke out in the first floor apartment today, blocking the hallways with dense clouds of smoke.

In the second floor apartment firemen stood by ready to carry the 85-year-old mother-in-law of Senator Frederick E. Judd of Southampton to the street while smoke swirled about the room. The flames were brought under control, however.

Earlier in the day 30 families were driven to the street when a fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, swept through the three-story tenement block at 19-21 Main st., in the City sq. section of Charlestown.

The Myrtle st. fire started in the apartment of August Aldison when draperies ignited from a gas jet. Aldison fought the fire for a few moments with his bare hands and then fled from the building with his wife, calling an alarm.

Firemen confined the fire to the Aldison apartment with a loss of $1000.

At the Charlestown fire, the building swept by flames was an unoccupied tenement but adjacent, and in imminent danger of destruction, were occupied buildings.

Patroness Thomas S. Christian discovered the fire in the rear of the building and sounded the alarm, but before the arrival of the firemen the building was a roaring furnace.

RADICAL DRYS ALARMED OVER JONES' SWITCH

Washington, May 28 (28S)—Radical drys who for 10 days have opposed every referendum, straw vote and popular poll on the prohibition issue were deeply disturbed today over Senator Wesley L. Jones' absence on the question of a referendum in his home State of Washington.

Jones, a consistent prohibitionist throughout his 21 years in Congress, fathered the famous Jones "five-and-ten" law.

Had Senator Grundy (R.) of Pennsylvania suddenly gone free trade it would have caused no more surprise than Jones' statement that he would vote for modification or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment if the people of his state voted that way, too.

Prohibition, he said, "is not a partisan question" and "should not be made so until it appears absolutely necessary." He rebuked his state convention for not asking for a referendum instead of flitting about wet.

A referendum, he declared, "is the proper and courageous thing."

Medford Man Fights Big Cat to Death in Home

Charles M. Blake of Taylor st., Medford, experienced the thrills of an African jungle hunt right in the darkened hallway of his own home late last night.

Entering the hallway with his wife after an automobile ride, Blake was attacked by a large cat that had slipped in as he opened the door.

The cat leaped at Blake's throat, while Mrs. Blake, near collapse from fright, sought to turn on a light.

Blake in trying to ward off the attack had both forearms badly torn by teeth and claws of the cat.

Warmer Weather Is Promised for Hub

With unmistakable optimism, the weather man again today predicted warmer weather, although probably with showers late tonight.

The day will be partly cloudy, he said, and it will be fair and cool, however. The temperature at 3 o'clock was 53, with a northwest wind.

Daily Antique No. 107

Spoons have not changed greatly in their appearance in the past 200 years. Here's a real old-timer, dating from earliest Colonial days and still possessing utilitarian value apart from its historic associations.

The spoon shown is of pewter, similar to type of early castings by the first settlers. The Pilgrims and Puritans brought from England a high regard for pewter which had been popular in England for a hundred years before their coming to Plymouth and Salem. This spoon is part of a collection owned by A. J. Oettinger of 171 Tremont st., Boston.

In connection with the Massachusetts Tercentenary year, the Boston Evening American is publishing daily photographs of interesting antiques. Owners of colonial or early American origin or of historic associations are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. If a photograph is not available, the American will send a cameraman to photograph the antique, providing the owner lives in Greater Boston. Address the Antique Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

JURORS ACT ON STOCK CHARGES

Middlesex grand jury, in special session at East Cambridge, was expected to report today on the alleged Page & Shaw stock swindle, involving millions of dollars. Dist. Atty. Robert T. Fernald presented the case. Witnesses included Lieut. John P. Stokes of the state police, who led an investigation; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Johnson, Mrs. Virginia M. Mills and Maud B. Moran, all of Lowell, and Harriet E. Wells of Concord. Several alleged stock salesmen were arrested a week ago. It is said the transactions cover much of New England and grand jury action in other counties is expected.

Students Upheld in Refusal to Pay

Richard B. Marshall, who resides at Chestnut Hill, and Lewis B. Churchill of Pennsylvania, will not have to pay J. I. Moskow, agent of a dormitory in Cambridge, for premises leased by them while they were students at Harvard in 1928. They occupied the leased rooms only two days and then moved to quarters furnished them in a college dormitory. At a trial in superior court at Cambridge, the presiding judge found in favor of the defendants, and Moskow appealed to the full bench of the supreme court, which has affirmed the finding of the superior court.

GOLDEN

PALE DRY

SEC (extra dry)

There are three types of ginger ale flavor... Golden, Pale Dry and Sec (extra dry). To know which one exactly suits you, we urge that you make the "Taste Test" described below

There are three types of ginger ale flavor sold today. And Clicquot Club makes all three. All are different, all are delightful. But one of these ginger ales is sure to suit your taste better than either of the other two. And because it is not generally known that ginger ale comes in three different flavors, we are urging people everywhere to test their tastes and find which flavor suits them best.

As a result of making this simple test, thousands of people now get greater pleasure than ever before from drinking ginger ale. They have found the flavor that suits them perfectly. The Test—To make this test you go to your dealer and get a bottle of Clicquot Club Golden, a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry and a bottle of Clicquot Club Sec. Sample them all, one by one. Note the mellowness that is characteristic of them all. And note the difference in their flavor. Clicquot Club Golden has long been known as a delightful health beverage... Clicquot Club Pale Dry is famous for its flavor either in recipe drinks or alone... and Clicquot Club Sec for that luscious "drier" flavor. You are sure to find, in one of these ginger ales, exactly the flavor you have always been looking for.

Same Quality Ingredients—Pure table sugar, fine Jamaica ginger root, real fruit flavors and pure water from deep rock springs... these are the ingredients that go into all three Clicquot Club Ginger Ales. The difference in flavor comes from the difference in blend, for each of these three has its own exclusive formula. As a further evidence of their goodness and purity, all Clicquot Club Ginger Ales are put up in clean, new bottles. The all too common practice of using second-hand bottles is not countenanced here. Aged Six Months in the Making—The rare, fine Jamaica ginger root, for which Clicquot Club Ginger Ales have long been famous comes from aging six months in the making. This process is a secret with the Clicquot Club Company—a carefully guarded secret known to the makers of no other ginger ale. That is why you can never expect to duplicate Clicquot Club flavor, never find it in any ordinary ginger ale. Therefore we urge you to go to your dealer and make the "Taste Test" today. It will show you beyond all question which ginger ale best suits your taste.

minge sets off his military figure . . . so much so that he has been mistaken for an officer of the guard and several times for a subway station master. The subway entrance is in the basement of the building, but Tom hasn't anything to do with it. Hardly a week passes but what some flustered stranger passes him a dime and thanks for the basement stairs. Tom being an honest man must shout and remind such wayward transients that there is no admission charge to the Little Building. He passes back the dime with appropriate apologies. Sometimes the would-be subway patron thanks him . . . sometimes they do not.

"(Once I had an old guy get angry with me for passing him back his dime. . . Maybe he thought I was some new racket," said Tom.

Now this elevator business, like everything these days, is being speeded up," he continued.

"Passengers wait served! We've got to get about 5000 customers up and down in the elevators during the run of a business day. Saturdays being short days we have to work faster. Old-fashioned civility don't go any more. The lady-lady gallant old boys wait stand and wait for the elevator first . . . well, they just had everything. As a consequence, everybody is waiting for everybody else and the cars don't make the schedule. It's coming down. Suppose a couple of polite guys happen to be in front of a packed car? Suppose that there are a lot of women in the back of the car. The polite guys standing in front wriggle around back to let the ladies off first. Imagine the jam. You've been through it. Got me? Men's vs. speed. Wait? me for speed!"

TOM WHITE INFORMATION BUREAU

Incidentally we learned that a starter in a big office building has to keep posted on its tenants—be a sort of guide to what's what in the building.

"Who are the outstanding celebrities of the building?" we asked the gracious starter.

"Any golf players or amateur musicians, or distinguished professional people?"

"Yes," said Thomas, "there are more than 50 dentists in this building. Distinguished? Well, you'll have to ask 'em yourself. There's Mr. Sands Chipman on the seventh floor . . . sort of town crier for the gang . . . maybe he'll tell you all about them. There's John Blinn, artist. Boy he can do some fine pictures, too. Yeah—ad pictures. We got a new author in this building, too . . . Dave Cherry. His first novel will be published shortly by the McBride Co. of New York. Neal O'Hara works here. Got an office on one of the top floors. Robert Appleton, lawyer, wants the building trustees to build a garage for the tenants on the roof. Says it would be a great convenience and relieve traffic in nearby streets. The largest tenant in the building is Francis F. Berry . . . physically and otherwise . . . very important, as expert on acoustics . . . Oh, yeah! And I almost forgot . . . we gotta brother movie man . . . one the last a life time. Me . . . What do I do in my leisure hours? I'm an optimist. An elevator man can't be anything else."

Cabots Due to Arrive From Home in Italy
MR. AND MRS. HANDBY CABOT (Ellis Campbell) are leaving Italy, where they have a magnificent home in Florence, for this country, arriving about the 1st of June to go to their summer place at Doublet, N. H. Their daughter, Miss Pauline Cabot, was a debutante of several seasons ago and prominent in skating events during her coming out year.

SAUNTERING ABOUT TOWN we spotted Miss Frances Goodwin, daughter of Augustus Goodwin of Hamilton and the Countess of Palam-Kir of New York, looking very chic indeed in a dark blue ensemble and simply gorgeous silver fox coat, boarding the one o'clock train for New York. We were overheard with curiosity to know who the tall girl was in the train, to help off just as the train pulled out of Back Bay. Maybe more about that later. Miss Goodwin is taking her daughter, Deborah, and Miss Betty Barre's show, Candy, over to Gotham, maybe for a dog show. The baggage master seemed real pleased to see Deborah and Betty and they appeared friendly with him, which is not to be marvelled at as Miss Goodwin or Miss Barre are escorting them either to or from New York frequently.

MISS GUY MUNCHIE, with his daughters, Miss Agnes and Miss Janet, are sailing the 6th of June for Europe. They expect to be gone most of the summer. Mrs. Munchie has departed with them, presumably for a divorce.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST FUR ESTABLISHMENT

The Shades of Night Are Blue—Many Hues

From Paris Bureau, Boston Evening American.

Paris, May 28.

LACE HAS joined the navy and has proven itself to be an extremely popular recruit. Navy blue lace as a medium for a dinner frock has not been outstanding in the past but the painless but expensive sartorial revolution of late autumn brought many innovations in its wake and one of these was the introduction of lace in all colors and shades for day and evening frocks.

And with the enormous popularity of blue and particularly navy blue, it was but a logical step to its adoption as an evening as well as a day shade, especially in a fabric of such gossamer weave as lace, that is so well designed to give lightness and an ethereal quality to so somber and subdued a hue as navy blue.

Lately we have encountered several ensembles of dark blue lace and have noted that they were worn with great ease and comfort. The light and airy evening wear is too established to invite comment. It is so becoming to women of both blonde and the brunette type, that it is a perennial favorite.

Both of the sketches shown on this page are of attractive frocks for wear after dark. The dress on the left is a very lovely Augusteborn evening frock, fashioned of pastel blue crepe marocain, fitted snugly at the hips and belted at the waistline. The dress on the right is applied at either side of the hips and extends to the lower down more modest trail at sides and back. There is a detachable three-colored scarf of matching crepe.

No less a couturier than Paton is responsible for this navy blue lace dinner frock, which he advised for wear at an informal dinner. The amusing little coat also of the lace barely reaches to the hips and has long straight sleeves. Interesting circular drapery is placed on the right side fitting skirt and does its part to make the dress not too obvious trace to the silhouette.

Republican Candidates for Senate Give Platforms

By NANCY BREWSTER
Edwin S. Draper, Republican candidate for senatorial nominee from Massachusetts, went on record as opposed to any amendment limiting the power of the President in the case of a national emergency.

HAYS SENATORS
Those Republican Senators who have upheld their Democratic constituents' brethren on the tariff question came in for scathing denunciations by Lieut.-Gov. William S. Youngman.

"They are members of a coalition party," he said. The demand in the name of the State that if New England factories were to get started, the tariff question would be settled. He further commented on prohibition by agreeing to support President Coolidge that settlement would not come by repeal but would come after many years of study by the Republican party.

Other speakers included State Senator Clarence P. Kidder, Rep. Ralph N. Hamilton, State Senator Henry Parkman, A. John Sertin, president of the Italian-American Citizens' Association of Cambridge, and Republican women from surrounding towns.

Newly-elected officers of the club include Miss Maud A. Scott, first vice-president; Mrs. Charles Hathaway, second vice-president; Mrs. Ralph N. Hamilton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gertrude S. Stetson, recording secretary; and Miss Helen P. Fink, auditor.

Gandhi Pictured by Former Pupil in Talk Before Peace League
That the man who has stirred 300,000,000 people to open revolt who has shaken the foundations of the British Empire and who has introduced into human politics the strongest religious influence that can ever be conceived—that man is Mahatma Gandhi!

This was part of the descriptive narrative of India made for French soldiers by a Hindu liberator, former student of the Hindu liberator, who has introduced into human politics the strongest religious influence that can ever be conceived—that man is Mahatma Gandhi!

That Gandhi was opposed to the use of modern machinery in India was true, Shastri stated, but this, he said, was because of the preservation of human energy and not in the substitution of machinery for human faculties and muscles. He said that Gandhi favored the use of some machinery.

PICTURES OF GANDHI
That his audience might get better acquainted with the man who had stirred the world, Shastri gave a picture of his former teacher and master.

He is a small frail man with a thin face and large protruding nose. His body is clothed with a loin cloth of a coarse texture. There is nothing striking about him, at the first sight, except his expression of great patience and infinite love. His dark tranquil eyes beam a spiritual light. His manner is gentle and courteous even with his adversaries and he is never in a hurry to win an argument.

"He is modest and unassuming yet you feel his indomitable spirit. He makes no compromise and never tries to give a mistake. Nor is he afraid to stand having been in the wrong. Diplomacy is a virtue to him. He shows great tact and effect and he shrinks unconsciously from the great popular demonstrations."

"Gandhi is a political leader and his doctrine is essentially religious. He is a religious leader and his doctrine is essentially political. He is a leader of the masses and he is a leader of the masses."

URGES STUDY OF CAUSE
The Indian masses do not lack in our faith or our success of the program. But it is a program which calls for the greatest self-discipline in an individual. Every fight for freedom is a long, grim, arduous task and we do not expect ours in India to be any less remembering that it is founded not on arms but on non-violence.

"At present all our energy is devoted to the only task of throwing off the yoke of foreign rule and we are too heavily on all our branches of life."

Members of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom have to play their part in bringing about this happy result and I cannot better end than with this message of Mahatma Gandhi: "Study our Indian cause and make it its own merit."

TROLLEY READY FOR TEST BY "WIZARD"

The trolley car that Maurice J. Francil, wireless "wizard," will operate through the heart of the downtown district Thursday by remote control was equipped today with a number of interesting features that will make the experiment possible, and was tested at the shops of the city.

The wireless apparatus, which weighs only three pounds, was installed by Francil, who is the vaudeville comedian known as "The Scollay Square Olympian" a week at the Scollay square. Olympians, who are trolley cars, weighs more than it looks, and is mounted on a platform on a little wooden shelf that extends from the front bumper beam of the car.

Francil, who is a full-time radio operator, will be in full view during the experiment.

Francil has been brought to the attention of the city by a leading American, as an educational, scientific and entertainment feature.

Francil, who is a resident of Scollay Square, operates Olympia the trolley car he operates on the stage two or three times a week.

Esser car, runs a miniature battleship, milks a real, live cow and carries a number of other interesting remote control, all without touching the car.

The car Francell uses has been supplied through courtesy of the Henley-Kimball Co., 652 Beacon st., Hudson Essex distributors. Francell selected Hudson Essex cars because of the ease and flexibility of engine movement and other mechanical refinements.

The cow that Francell milks is from the thoroughbred, tuberculin-tested herds that supply the Herlihy Brothers dairy, whose products is sold in all Economy Grocery stores.

Francell uses in his dressing room and in his hotel room the new all-electric "Majestic" radio, receiving stations which will be given away at the 9 o'clock performance at the Seelye Square Olympia. Saturday night, through courtesy of the Standard Stores.

FIFTY MORE CASES TO BE BROUGHT

Bills in Equity Filed in the Superior Court to Be Heard June 9

The first official move in Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman's padlock proceedings against alleged liquor sellers took place today when Assistant Corporation Counsel Leo Schwartz filed two bills in equity in Suffolk Superior Court.

The bills sought leave to padlock two places, one at 377 Harrison ave., and the other at 48 Northampton st., for a period of one year.

Schwartz said convictions had been obtained against these places over a period of three years and the cases were the first of a batch of approximately 50 to be brought.

The Harrison ave. establishment, according to the petition, is owned by Harris Goldman, with a mortgage held by the Warren Institution for Savings.

Domino Leardo is said to be holder of the title on the Northampton st. property, with mortgages held by the First Cent Savings Bank and Rebecca Kenner.

The bills set up that on information and belief the two buildings are used for the illegal keeping, sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors and constitute a public nuisance.

It was also alleged that the owners and mortgagees are permitting the nuisance to exist.

Schwartz asked that owners, mortgagees and occupants be restrained from removing furnishings and fixtures, and from spending hearing Judge Cox in the equity union session issued an order of notice returnable June 9.

WOMEN NOTED AS ARCHITECTS

In these days of feminine freedom there is nothing unusual in a woman filling a position previously considered as a position of man's estate. The growing influx of women into the business world has found the women are filling positions just as well and often better than their masculine counterparts.

MGR. M'MAHON LAUDED; RESTS

Rev. Mr. John W. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Charlestown, spent today resting after the strenuous activities of yesterday in which he was the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner and dinner in honor of the 25th anniversary of his ordination.

Tired but happy, the monsignor rested in his comfortable study and reviewed the long years in which the little pastorate has grown and prospered under his careful guidance.

He was born in Charlestown in 1847 and was graduated from Holy Cross in 1867.

Following his ordination in 1872, he was curate at St. Stephen's Church, North End, and in 1881 was installed as pastor of St. Mary's in Charlestown.

Since that time he has done much for the church. He was prominent in raising funds for a building, which was erected in 1887, and also established a convent and school during his pastorate.

According to his own statement, the attendance in the parish has increased more than fourfold since he took up his duties there.

The monsignor is keenly interested in Boston history, especially that of Charlestown. He said the government should do more for the preservation of historical sites.

SAW HISTORIC FIRE
Most of the funds for such purposes are now contributed by private citizens, he asserted.

He also recalled the great Boston fire of 1872. He told how he had stayed up all night to see the huge conflagration in spite of the fact he had to conduct services the following day. When the time came for his sermon, he said, he was half asleep and, after he spoke a few words, most of the parishioners were deep in slumber.

He is greatly interested in Ireland, and has a warm spot in his heart for them, he said. His work at St. Stephen's gave him a close contact and understanding with them.

Test Tufts Glider at Provincetown
The glider that has been creating great interest at Tufts was tested tomorrow and sent to Provincetown for try outs John Gillon and Donald Mitchell who have been building the enclosed glider as a part of their work with the glider.

A party of faculty and students are to act as pilots and ground crew. They will camp "near the lake" with the wives of the faculty on the beach, acting as caddy.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE LEADERS BATTLE TO KEEP ON TOP

GAMES TODAY

Somerville at Brookline.
Cambridge Latin at Newton.
Rindge at Everett.

Three games are slated for today in the close Suburban League race.

Somerville high goes to Brookline. The Somerville team is going well now and a victory today will put it in a tie for the top of the league, provided Everett comes through with a win over Rindge Tech.

Cambridge Latin has a chance to improve its standing today by defeating Newton. The latter has been slow getting started. It is due to win, however, and may upset the Cantabs.

A glance at the standing shows how good the race is in the school league. Any of the teams have a chance to go up or down very far after the next couple of contests and that fact is keeping the keen players on their toes and making some great games.

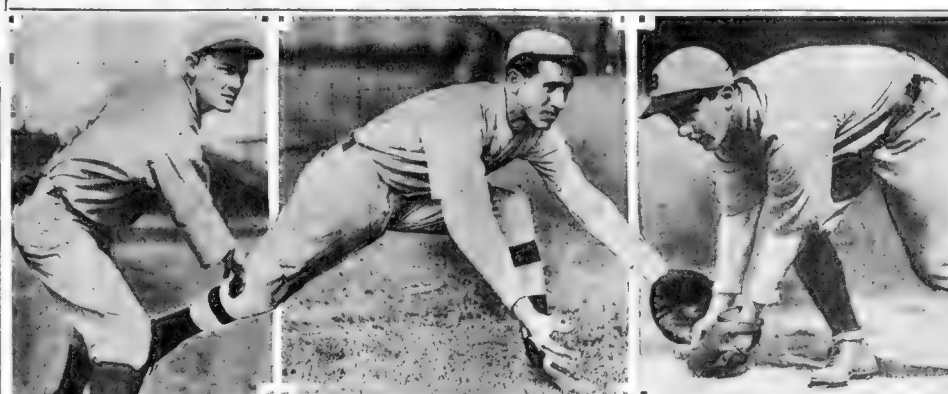

Malden High Plays Lynn English

Another good school game today to the Malden at Lynn English fray. Tom Whelan has built a good team at Lynn, as usual, but Malden is very fast and with George Beaman, undefeated this season, is favored to down the Lynn team.

The home team has been ready for the Blue and Gold and the odds give the Malden leaders a lot of trouble.

Three big schoolboy games today, the trio pictured above will play an important part. George Beaman, undefeated this season, will hurl for Malden against the strong Lynn English nine. Christie Harris will hold down first base for Rindge in its clash with Everett, while James Timmons will be at short for Brookline in its battle with Somerville at Brookline today.

JONES FEATS TOLLEY AT 19TH

Carrying it well wide of the green Tolley then hit the green with his eighth second, 18 feet from the pin, for a sure 4. Bobby's third left him 5-foot putt for a half, but he missed it.

At the third, both hit screaming drives, straight down the alley, and both went for the pin with their second. Jones getting some 9 feet inside Tolley's approach. The latter ran his approach putt dead from 30 feet, and Bobby repeated from 30 feet, a half in par 4 resulting

Shots Hitting Fans Big Help to Jones

Thrice during the round Jones was favored by the gods when misdirected shots hit spectators and rebounded into advantageous positions. This happened for the last time at the gripping 11th, where the slightest mistake meant disaster.

Tolley was fighting hard for the lead at the time, a lead he had relinquished at the 11th, never to be fully regained. He managed to square matters at the 12th, but went one down again to Bobby's birds at the 13th.

Then the Briton hit an amazing drive at the 14th, nearly reaching the "Red Banker," some 350 yards away. After which he pitched 5 feet from the pin for a marvelous eagle.

Jones went into the lead with a putt on the 15th, upon which Tolley equaled it with an eagle at the 16th. Jones finding a trap.

He halved the next two but, at 18th, Bobby pitched his avowed home wave Tolley pulled his approach and was 20 feet short of the pin with his third. Jones, putting from 10 feet, overcame the hole and laid Tolley a wicked twist. He attempted to negotiate it but failed and a great match was over.

The gallery gave Jones a rousing cheer on the 19th, when he went down, almost mobbing him in his efforts to tender congratulations. The demonstration gave vivid testimony of the American leader's popularity at the world's game.

At the 19th, Tolley's approach shot left just short of the green with Jones pin-high on the green 30 feet from the pin. He had a chance here, if Tolley missed his chip shot but Tolley didn't. He hit a beauty to the shadow of the flag and when Jones' approach putt stopped the same distance away.

Tolley, however, squared the match at the seventh with a pretty 4, the result of a long, straight drive and a nice arching approach to the green.

Both missed the green at the short eighth with their iron from the tee, the balls carrying over the wall. Bobby chipped in for a short putt, while Tolley's chip was 12 feet short and he missed the putt to take a 4, whereas Bobby holed his 8 footer for a winning birdie.

Tolley almost drove the green at the 9th, and when Jones pulled his tee shot to the rough and had to play his second short, he then was weak by 20 feet with his chip, while Tolley's approach putt left him a short putt, which he promptly sank for a birdie.

Following the match, the two players had a friendly talk.

LEAD OF BIG MARKETS

By FRANK H. MELOON

The public utilities are splendidly substantiating the claim long ago made for them that they are virtually depression-proof. Trading in the public utility issues continues to dominate the big markets in Boston and in Chicago, as well as in New York. They appear to constitute the only group that responds in old-fashioned style to rumors of mergers. There is general public confidence that important mergers of utilities are ahead, together with confident plans for expansion.
